2017 CHILD HEALTH RECOGNITION AWARDS

The North Carolina GlaxoSmithKline Foundation's Child Health Recognition Awards program recognizes public health workers and programs that improve the health status of children. The program honors North Carolina public health professionals and departments for innovative, creative and successful approaches to improving the lives of our younger generations.

The nomination period for the 2017 awards is open through Wednesday, May 31, 2017.

There are four categories of the award:

- The Lifetime Achievement Award
- The Individual Recognition Award
- The Public Health Staff Recognition Award
- The Local Health Department Recognition Award
