

East Carolina University

Tomorrow starts here.™

This 2008 Ribbon of Hope grant supported “Reach Up East Carolina” a program supporting educating minorities in middle school, specifically African-Americans. This science enrichment program provided 24 African-American students in Pitt County with the opportunity to excel in science. Student activities included: 1) Improving student competence in science; 2) Connecting science to student experiences; and 3) Encouraging and motivating students to want to pursue careers in science.
