Community College Collaboration (C3)

This 2019 Traditional grant is a $1,064,000 investment over three years designed to expand the Community College Collaboration (C3) project, which guarantees NC State admission to qualified transfer students from several North Carolina community colleges. The grant will allow NC State to expand the program to 150 new students per year from its current level of 120 students per year. It will also increase the number of eligible community college partners from eight to 10. The C3 program is intended for low to moderate income students in North Carolina who have completed high school or who have fewer than 30 credit hours of college work. First-generation college students, rural students and military veterans are some of the targeted students to be recruited into the program. NC State guarantees admission to selected C3 students who complete their associate's degree in art, science or engineering at a partner community college with a 3.0 GPA within three years.
