

OUT OF THE GARDEN PROJECT

Advancing health and education through a tiered-internship program and local outreach at the Urban Teaching Farm in Guilford County, NC

This 2021 Ribbon of Hope grant will provide internships for 12 students from NC A&T State University. The interns will revise the educational curriculum used at Out of the Garden Project's Urban Teaching Farm. The interns will create educational materials for youth programming and develop partnerships with local organizations. The initiative is meeting a community need through the provision of internship experiences for local youth and programming designed to foster knowledge of healthy eating for individuals from food-insecure areas in the county.
