

Read and Feed aims to give disadvantaged elementary school children an appetite for reading by strengthening their literacy skills and providing them with encouragement in a nurturing environment. The program provides reading tutoring to students by bringing specially-equipped mobile tutoring recreational vehicles (RVs) to low-income neighborhoods. This project will expand the program with the use of a third RV, the goal is to serve an additional 96 children at four rural sites by providing an environment in which children can improve their reading skills, and providing evening meals to low-income families, and giving books to each child.
